

WEEK 14 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 70% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

JACOBY BRISSETT (AZ) VS LAR

Another strong performance, Brissett continues to be a top-10 QB, throwing over 250 yards in seven straight games and multiple touchdowns in six of those. Recently, he has thrown for at least 300 yards in three consecutive games. He's not matchup-proof, but it's hard to consider sitting him, even though this would be one of the toughest matchups so far. The offense relies on Brissett, and even if the AZ offense struggles, garbage time might be enough to get him a top-15 finish despite being in the top ten.

TREVOR LAWRENCE (JAX) VS IND

Despite an inconsistent season, Lawrence has played well recently, throwing over 225 yards and multiple touchdowns in back-to-back games. Facing an IND defense that's top ten in rushing yards allowed and bottom ten in passing yards allowed per game, the JAX offense will need to throw the ball well to keep up with the IND offense that leads the league in points scored per game. Due to the potential upside, he's worth streaming as a top-15 option despite his boom-or-bust nature.

MARCUS MARIOTA (WAS) @ MIN

Mariota has been impressive, and I'm now hopping on the bandwagon after he has thrown over 200 yards and multiple touchdowns in two of his last three games. He's also a rushing threat (over 45 yards in consecutive games), which boosts his subpar passing volume. Facing a MIN defense that's top ten in passing yards allowed per game, it's not a great matchup, but he should have plenty of opportunities while the MIN offense struggles to stay on the field as a last resort option. If Daniels returns, I'd pivot to Darnold against ATL.

TYLER SHOUGH (NO) @ TB

This is a rough week for streaming QBs, and it boils down to matchups. I considered Taylor vs. MIA, but decided to go with Shough because it's a slightly better matchup and offers higher upside despite the risk of a single-digit performance. TB defense is in the bottom ten in passing yards allowed and points allowed per game, and Shough has thrown over 225 yards and multiple touchdowns in two of his last three games. If I miss out on the above options, this is my last-resort option, hoping garbage time saves me.
