

WEEK 15 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 70% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

JAXON DART (NYG) @ CHI

Coming out of the bye week, he was slightly disappointing, breaking his five-game streak of throwing over 150 yards and scoring a rushing touchdown. Despite that, I'm really optimistic about the upcoming matchup against a WAS defense that's in the bottom five of passing and rushing yards, along with points allowed per game (giving up at least 27 points in six of their last seven games). Because of the matchup and Dart's rushing ability, he is one of my preferred top-15 streaming options with upside.

2

TREVOR LAWRENCE (JAX) VS NYJ

Over the last three games, Lawrence has shown the first sign of consistency this season, throwing at least 225 yards and multiple touchdowns. While he hasn't been much of a rushing threat, he is facing a NYJ defense that's vulnerable against the run (bottom five in rushing yards allowed per game) and bottom ten in points allowed per game. Because of this, I see the JAX offense relying more on the ground game, which lowers its ceiling and makes him a solid but not great streaming option.

3

SAM DARNOLD (SEA) @ TEN

Bouncing back from some rough performances, he had his best game since Week 9 and threw multiple touchdowns in two of his last five games. Facing an IND defense that lost its starting QB and is in the bottom five in passing yards allowed per game, they have given up at least 23 points in four of their last five games. While this is still a competent defense, they will be put in tougher spots when their offense adjusts to the backup QB. While Darnold has top-ten upside, I would treat this week as a low-end streaming option.

4

JACOBY BRISSETT (AZ) @ HOU

It's been extremely impressive how he's been consistent, throwing over 250 yards and multiple touchdowns in seven of his last eight games against good defenses like GB, LAR, and SEA. While this HOU defense is top five in passing yards and points allowed per game, it would be hard to sit Brissett, even though the matchup would suggest otherwise. I was considering J.J. McCarthy with a great matchup (DAL), but am going with Brissett and trusting the QB over the matchup, even if he ends up with his worst game of the season.

FOLLOW US @AKAMAIFANTASY

WWW.AKAMAIFANTASYFOOTBALL.COM