

WEEK 3 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 70% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

JAKE BROWNING (CIN) @ MIN

Browning showed promise last week, throwing over 200 yards and two touchdowns against a beatable JAX defense. Facing MIN, it's a more formidable defense, but not a bad enough matchup not to consider him as a streaming option. He's been the backup for a while, and the last time he started in 2023, he surpassed 300 yards in three of seven games. While he may not have a top 12 performance next week, the upside is always there on this offense, making him the top streaming option on this list.

TUA TAGOVAILOA (MIA) @ BUF

This recommendation is an upside play after Tagovailoa bounced back from a horrible performance to start the season. Facing a BUF defense, the matchup isn't great, but this offense will live and die on Tua's arm as the MIA defense has looked awful (allowing 33 points in back-to-back games). If there's one thing for sure, it's that the offense will need to keep up with BUF if they want to have a shot, and he's one of my preferred streaming options, and I like his chances to finish as a top ten option.

MATTHEW STAFFORD (LAR) @ PHI

While he was just outside of the top 12 QBs, he was serviceable with almost 300 passing yards and two touchdowns. Facing a PHI defense, it would be easy to think the bad matchup would rule him out as a streaming option, but I like his chances to continue to be a serviceable QB after facing solid defenses in TEN and HOU so far. However, I do not expect him to have the top ten upside in single QB leagues and consider him a low-end top 15 option that can get you enough points (12-18) not to lose your week.

AARON RODGERS (PIT) @ NE

Coming off a rough performance last week, where he barely surpassed 200 passing yards and threw two interceptions, he faces a NE defense that has given up 300 passing yards in back-to-back games. This defense has also allowed at least 20 points. Despite Rodgers struggling last week, he has thrown for at least 200 yards, making him a viable option in superflex leagues or as a last resort top-15 pick if I miss out on the other names here.
