WEEK 10 DEF STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR TEAMS ON LESS THAN 80% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1 GREEN BAY PACKERS VS MIN

Over their past six games, this defense has been mostly impressive, generating at least three sacks and forcing multiple turnovers in four games while holding opponents to under 20 points in three. Now they're facing a struggling MIN offense that had under 200 total yards last week and ranks in the bottom six in total yards and points scored per game. It's not projected to be a high-scoring game (over/under of 41 points); this is my first option even if Kyler Murray ends up playing.

2 KANSAS CITY CHIEFS @ ATL

Since coming out of the bye week, this defense has been an absolute coin flip, either generating four sacks and forcing a turnover, holding opponents to under 14 points, or giving up at least 20 points and generating a sack or (not) a turnover. Despite that, this is a top-ten defense in points and total yards allowed per game, facing an ATL offense in the bottom five in turnovers. At the same time, it's not projected to be a low-scoring game (over/under of 45 points) but remains a top option.

3 LAS VEGAS RAIDERS VS SEA

With Sam Darnold already ruled out and backup QB Drew Lock also injured, there's some potential for this to be a low-scoring slugfest (projected over/under of 43 points). While this defense has given up at least 30 points in six straight games, they have also generated a sack and forced a turnover in their last three. This SEA offense is bottom-ten in turnovers, and this defense is top-five in forcing turnovers, making this a high-upside, boom-or-bust top-15 streaming option.

4 MIAMI DOLPHINS @ IND

I feel strange considering this defense hasn't been good for most of the season. Despite that, they have shown some potential, generating multiple sacks and forcing a turnover in three straight games against capable offenses (DET & NE) since the bye. Now they're facing a rebuilding IND offense that's bottom-ten in total yards and points scored per game and could trade away one of their best offensive players. With a low projected over/under of 40 points, they are a last-resort streaming option.
