WEEK 10 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 80% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

BRYCE YOUNG (CAR) @ NO

Coming off his best performance since the bye week, he's been inconsistent recently, throwing for over 250 yards and multiple touchdowns in two of his last four games, or under 210 yards and one touchdown in the other two. Facing a NO defense that's in the bottom ten in passing yards and points allowed per game, there's some upside in this divisional matchup. With a projected over/under of 48 points, there's some shootout potential, making him one of the preferred top-15 streaming options.

AARON RODGERS (PIT) @ CIN

After a decent start, Rodgers has been disappointing over his past two games. However, I like this matchup despite this CIN defense's improvement from last season. Rodgers had one of his best games against them in Week 3, throwing for over 275 yards and three touchdowns. With both teams on a four-game winning streak and divisional rivals, I don't expect PIT to outscore this CIN offense by only running the ball. Rodgers isn't my first option; he's a solid boom-or-bust option as a last resort.

GENO SMITH (NYJ) VS BUF

Despite last week's rough performance, I like this as a bounce-back opportunity, since Smith has been decent, throwing for over 250 yards and a touchdown in the three games prior. It also depends on WR Garrett Wilson's health. If he misses the game, then I would pivot to Kirk Cousins in a bad matchup. However, if Wilson plays, then I believe in the projected over/under of 50 points against a bottom-five BUF defense in passing yards allowed per game, making Smith a risky but worth considering.

4

TYLER SHOUGH (NO) VS CAR

With the return of Jordyn Tyson last week, he was a decent streaming option, throwing for over 250 yards and a touchdown while also rushing for over 50 yards (season high). Now he's facing a CAR defense that ranks in the bottom five in points allowed per game and has given up over 24 points in three straight games. Normally, I don't recommend streaming both QBs in a game, but with the division lead in sight, there should be scoring, making Shough one of the better top-15 options.
