

WEEK 6 DEF STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR TEAMS ON LESS THAN 80% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1 NEW ENGLAND PATRIOTS VS NYJ

While this is a divisional matchup, I cannot ignore how the NYJ offense has been recently, scoring under 20 points in back-to-back games. They are also bottom-ten in total yards and points scored per game. NE's defense has been inconsistent, but has generated a sack and forced a turnover in four straight games while holding opponents to under 20 points in two of those. They are also top-five in total yards and points allowed per game, making them a preferred top-12 streaming option.

2 BALTIMORE RAVENS @ CLE

With a projected over/under of 41, this is expected to be a low-scoring match where both defenses will have to win. BAL hasn't been great, but they have generated a sack and forced a turnover in three straight games while holding opponents to under 20 in two of those. While CLE's offense has shown some life, it's still bottom-ten in total yards and points per game. If you miss this defense, I could see myself taking CLE as a last-resort option, but BAL has more upside, so it's the preferred pick.

3 PITTSBURGH STEELERS @ TB

Despite surprising many last week, this TB offense faces a tougher matchup against a PIT defense that's currently a top-ten fantasy defense, forcing multiple turnovers in its first four games and generating multiple sacks in three of them. While they were disappointing last week against a mediocre IND offense, I see this as a bounce-back matchup, given the projected low-scoring game (over/under of 41), making them risky but with enough upside to be a top-15 streaming option worth considering.

4 KANSAS CITY CHIEFS VS LAC

Coming off the bye week, this defense has been inconsistent, allowing at least 27 points in two games and fewer than 13 in two others. They have forced multiple turnovers in three of their last four games and are top-ten in rushing yards allowed per game. Now facing a struggling LAC offense that's bottom-ten in total yards and points per game (scoring less than 20 points in all but one game). With the LAC offense's injuries, I wouldn't be surprised if this defense finishes top-ten, making it a boom-or-bust top-15 streaming option.
