

WEEK 7 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 80% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

BRYCE YOUNG (CAR) @ NYJ

I'm not confident, since this TB defense ranks top five in total offense yards allowed per game and has held opponents to under 20 points in two of its last three games. However, Young has continued to impress, throwing for over 280 yards in every game this season and throwing multiple touchdowns in four out of five. Yet, TB ranks top-five in rushing yards allowed, which suggests Young may need to drive the offense. While it's not a good matchup, I consider Young a boom-or-bust streaming option.

AARON RODGERS (PIT) @ NO

Over the last four weeks, he's been a great streaming option, throwing for over 225 yards and at least two touchdowns. While it's an international matchup, this is a NO defense that's bottom ten in passing yards and points allowed per game. It's not projected to be a high-scoring match (over/under of 44 points), but NO has scored at least 24 points in all but one game this season. If PIT wants to win, then they will need to score, and while they may run the ball more, I consider Rodgers one of the safer streaming options.

C.J. STROUD (HOU) VS NYG

With the return of Nico Collins, Stroud has been impressive, throwing for over 300 yards and multiple touchdowns in two of three games. While neither defense was great (DAL/TEN), I don't consider NYG's defense great either, as they have allowed at least 24 points in three straight games. Also, this HOU offense relies on Stroud, as they are top five in passing yards per game but bottom ten in rushing yards per game. With David Montgomery likely still out, I consider Stroud one of my preferred streaming options.

TANNER MCKEE (PHI) VS DAL

This was a tough decision between McKee and Bo Nix @ ARI, and while McKee wasn't amazing last week, he showed some flashes, throwing for over 200 yards and a touchdown, something Nix hasn't done in back-to-back games. With Devonta Smith back and potentially Saquon, I am optimistic McKee will keep improving, and he faces a DAL defense that has given up over 21 points in all but one game so far. If DAL's offense returns to form, McKee could be one of the sneakier high-upside streaming options.
