

WEEK 8 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 80% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

KIRK COUSINS (LV) @ NYJ

Coming off another strong performance, he's been incredibly productive, throwing for over 240 yards and multiple touchdowns in six of his last seven games against decent defenses (KC & LAR). He leads an LV offense that's top-ten in points per game, scoring at least 21 points in all but one game so far. Facing a solid NYJ defense, it's not projected to be a high-scoring matchup (over/under 44 points), but he remains one of the preferred top-15 streaming options to fill in for a bye week.

JACOBY BRISSETT (ARI) @ DAL

While he hasn't been as consistent as last season, he's still capable of a top-12 performance, throwing over 250 yards and multiple touchdowns in only two games. Unfortunately, he's also thrown for under 250 yards three times, with a combined three touchdowns. However, it's all about the matchup against a DAL defense ranked in the bottom five in points allowed per game. With a projected over/under of 53.5 points, it's one of the higher-scoring matchups, and Brissett is a high-upside, top-15 streaming option.

SAM DARNOLD (SEA) VS CHI

For the most part, Darnold has not been a top-15 QB, failing to surpass 200 passing yards and throw multiple touchdowns in four straight games. One thing to consider: the last three games were against above-average defenses (SF, DEN, KC), forcing five combined turnovers. I'm not saying CHI is a good matchup, but they have given up at least 23 points in the last three games. While it's not projected to be a shootout (projected over/under of 46 points), Darnold is a boom-or-bust, last-resort option.

GENO SMITH (NYJ) VS LV

Coming off an impressive performance last week, I think it's an exception rather than the standard, as it was his second time throwing multiple touchdowns this season. However, Baker Mayfield has looked awful for the most part and likely isn't 100%, so here we are. I like the other side of the matchup, and this LV defense isn't perfect, ranking bottom-five in points per game allowed and bottom-12 in passing yards allowed. I might pivot to Tanner McKee if Devonta Smith returns, but Smith is a last-resort option.
